It is understood that all resched Washington safety, except the Philadelphians, who were presidents of the read had promised that they would bring no more troops this way. It can scarcely be true that any of the railroad bridges are to be blown up to pravent the passage of trains.

Twenty-nine cars containing the Massachusetts regiment, arrived at the depot, without disemburking the soldiers. The several cars had horses attached, and about nine were withdrawn from Prail atreet to Capen station, the first six without creating any disturbance. For some reason tha horses attached to the seventh car were taken off at the Prait street bridge and the car moved without their eid, to Capen.
